Ethnopharmacology in Development of Scientifically Validated Quality Products from Medicinal Plants and Regulatory Aspect

Dear Friends

On behalf of the organizing committee, I would like to invite you to participate in the 7th International Congress of the Society for Ethnopharmacology, India, to be organized by the Bioactive Natural Product Laboratory, School of Pharmaceutical Education and Research, Jamia Hamdard, New Delhi, India, from 15th-17th February, 2020.

The 7th SFEC 2020 will review discuss, and explore the scope of current research topics related to ethnopharmacology, medicinal plants, herbal drugs, traditional medicines, food supplements and natural products. The conference will explore new approaches for research and development in preclinical (in silico, in vitro and in vivo) and clinical areas, safety assessment, and quality control of herbal drugs and natural products, including their regulatory perspectives and post-market surveillance.

Jamia Hamdard, an outstanding institution of higher learning with distinct and focused academic programs, has recently been recognized as an Institution of Eminence by Govt of India. The School of Pharmaceutical Education and Research (SPER) at Jamia Hamdard, one of the oldest and most reputed Pharmacy Institutes of India, has been ranked #1 amongst the Pharmacy Schools of the country (NIRF 2019, Ministry of HRD, Govt. of India). The Bioactive Natural Product Laboratory (BNPL), a well-equipped laboratory of the Department of Pharmacognosy and Phytochemistry, is engaged with research on herbal drugs and traditional medicines, and has several research collaborations with industries and institutions in India and abroad.

New Delhi, the capital city of India, is pleasant in February, famous historically and worth to explore especially if this is your first time to visit. It is well connected by Air, Rail, Bus and Metro.

We are eagerly looking forward to welcome you in Delhi for a very meaningful intellectual meeting and a memorable stay. Please contact us, if we can help you any way, to make your visit more enjoyable.

Sincerely,

Dr Sayeed Ahmad
Organizing Secretary, SFEC 2020
